

ABSTRACT OF DISCLOSURE

To provide a mobile communications device power amplifier module, mobile communications device terminal equipment and mobile communications device base station structured in such a manner that the mounting area of mounted parts on a mother substrate can be reduced. By the elements mounted on the multilayer substrate 56 or housed in it, the transmission voltage controlled oscillator 2B and the power amplifier 17 are structured and integrated on the same substrate.

10